

How did we come up with the name, Kind Horn Farm, you may wonder....?

Well, we raise horned Icelandic sheep. They give us so much: lambs that we cherish, wool, and ultimately their lives for meat. We consider this a kindness.

And, if you look at the translation of these words in Icelandic: kind means sheep and horn is horn.